ports of thirty-nine railroads operating in Ohio, just submitted to the state railway commission, show that the two-cent passenger fare law has in the main operated to their advantage. The reports for the fiscal year, ended June 30, 1907, show an aggregate net gain on passenger receipts for these roads of $1,332,282, compared with earnings for the year 1906, which included three months' operation under the two-cent fare. Only ten of the thirty-nine lines reporting show a decrease in passenger earnings, and this aggregates more than $55,645.

Alsatia station, from which railroad point the hunt will be directed, is fifteen miles below here. All arrangements have been made for receiving the President there. The train will be placed on a sid-ing and the secretaries and telegraphers, will be housed there during the hunt, Horses will be in waiting to convey the entire party to the camp. Two camps have been arranged and stocked. The tents are up, and provisions are being hauled from the railroad station to the spots where the party will camp.

Location of the Camps.

The camps will be reached by way of the old Monticello road, running from ec7-tf Bastrop to the river, over which the farmers formerly hauled their cotton to the Mississippi river, where it was loaded on steamers before the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad was built. The first camp has been pltched at the intersection of the Monticello road and the Tensas river. The second camp has been erected at Joe's bayou and the Monticello road. This is a wild, undisturbed country, and abounds with game of all kinds-bear, deer, wild turkey, wildcats and squirrels.
